Thank you for submitting your post "I believe they were trying ...".

Your post was reviewed by a member of our team and it was not approved.

Neighbors posts are intended to help the community stay informed about safety related incidents. Previously this type of content was allowed on Neighbors, however we have made changes to be more selective. While posts must relate to crime and safety, not every crime or every safety event can be posted. For more information, please review the Community Guidelines which describes the types of individual behavior that are no longer permitted.

To reduce the risk of misunderstandings, implicit bias, and profiling, Neighbors makes content decisions based on the reported actions of the individual, never on a poster's speculation or opinion that certain behavior or individuals are concerning. Additionally, we prohibit posts about certain conduct or physical actions that present a high risk of identifying harmless behavior as concerning, even if descriptions of the conduct or physical actions are indeed accurate.

In certain cases, we use community feedback to determine what incidents are no longer permitted as relevant to local safety. For example, posts about individuals ringing the doorbell and running received persistent flags from the community, no matter the time of night. This does not mean that the incidents are not valid; rather they don't fit the criteria of content allowed on Neighbors.

Each incident is different and local context matters; however we have one set of guidelines that all users must follow. For more specific information on what type of content is allowed on Neighbors, please review our Community Guidelines.

We're not perfect, so if you feel a mistake was made, please reply to this email so our team can take another look.

Neighbors is a free service for all residents to stay informed and share local safety updates. We reserve the right to remove any content that we determine violates our guidelines.
